LOCAL AND GENERAL

One of the new stores opposite to the Police Station, on King street, has been taken by Ho Sun, a dry goods merchant.

Now is the time for the triumphant Democrats in Honolulu to celebrate their victory by squaring up election expenses with Wisconsin.

Dr. E. C. Webb was engaged Wednesday at the Royal School (Primary Department) vaccinating the boys.

Mr. J. Carlisle commences his duties as teacher of the Government School, at Maunaloa, Hawaii, on January 1st.

His Excellency the Minister of Finance has so far recovered from his late illness as to be able to be at his post again.

Madame Cora left Wednesday by the Iwani for Hawaii. She purposes giving performances in sleight-of-hand at all places of any importance on the island.

Mr. Ballinger, of the San Francisco Call, sailed Wednesday morning by the brig W. G. Irwin. Mr. Ballinger's health has been much benefited by his visit to the Islands.

The Christmas cards at Messrs. J. M. Oat & Co.'s are selling fast. We advise those who wish to make a selection to do so with as little delay as possible.

In response to inquiries made, we would say that the pine so abundantly grown in Hongkong, the pinus sinensis, is the common Chinese pine, of which we believe there are no specimens growing here.

The lease of the Anchor Saloon for the term of three years, from August 11th of this year, was bought Wednesday by Mr. Thomas Krouse for the sum of $2000. The lease carries with it a privilege of renewal for four years and eight months.

The Chief Justice has appointed Tuesday, December 9th, for the hearing of the following cases in Equity: George N. Wilcox v. Albert G. Ellis, a bill for relief, &c.; Eliza W. Holt et al. v. Minerva E. Fernandez and husband, a petition for sale and dower.

The following gentlemen have been appointed on the Board of Inspectors for Oahu, under the Session Laws of 1882, relating to the suppression of disease among animals: James Bredie, V. S.; A. Burrell Hayley, Executive Inspector; and J. H. Brown.

Yesterday morning Messrs. Lyons & Levey sold by auction the Anchor Saloon, which was purchased by Mr. Krouse for $2000. The above firm will hold their usual cash sale this morning, in addition to which they will sell five handsome mules, all well broken to harness and saddle.

Our composers were the recipients, last week, of a box of most delicate, toothsome, and handsome cakes from Messrs. Meller & Halbe's, confectioners, Lincoln's Block, King street. Accompanying the gift was a note, to the effect that the firm would have MINCE PIES ready for Thanksgiving tomorrow.

"The American brigantine W. G. Irwin will sail to-day for San Francisco with about 200 tons sugar as ballast." The inference to be drawn from the above (scissored from Wednesday's Guide) is, that the net value of sugar, sand, and stones is about the same, now that they are all classed (by the Guide) as "ballast."

The Honolulu Iron Works has turned out one-half, and are about ready to cast the other half, of a massive bed-plate for the machinery of the new "maceration" process, which is being tried now in the manufacture of sugar. The mass of iron is some twenty feet long, and is calculated to weigh about 3,300 pounds.

The twenty mules, lately arrived from the Coast per Consuelo, for Col. Z. S. Spaulding of Kealia, Kauai, have been attacked by a disease supposed to be glanders, and four of them died, and five others were shot. Dr. James Bredie, the veterinary surgeon, went down last week to examine them.

Go and see the photograph of the winning crew in the six-oared sliding-seated race in the late regatta. The photograph which is a life-like reproduction, and handsomely framed, has been presented to the Myrtle Boat Club by Mr. J. Williams; and is now on view Messrs. J. M. Oat & Co.'s store on Merchant street. We congratulate Mr. Williams on this splendid production of photographic art.

The accident which caused the S. S. Zealandia to arrive so much later than usual was the fracture of one of her piston rods. This caused an actual detention of only six or seven hours, but it has also partially disabled the vessel, as the piston could not be repaired except in part, and she had, therefore, to run without the use of one cylinder. Before the accident, sanguine expectations of reaching here on last Saturday night had been entertained.

Last Friday being the anniversary of Hawaiian Independence, salutes were fired at noon and sunset. Shortly after 1 o'clock, three companies of soldiers, commanded by Colonel Baker, and headed by the band, visited the Palace and saluted the King, their Excellencies W. M. Gibson and John M. Kapena being present with His Majesty. The troops and band then visited the residences of the Foreign Representatives, and saluted them.

On Thanksgiving Day, most of the stores in the city were closed during the latter half of the day.

Members of the different boating clubs took advantage of last Friday's holiday to exercise, by pulling round and about the harbor.

The photograph of the "Winning Crew" which was on view in Mr. J. M. Oat, Jr.'s store, has been transferred from there to the Myrtle Boat-house.

A fire broke out in a shed on South street Friday morning, but was speedily extinguished by the occupants of the house to whom the shed belonged.

Wednesday being the birthday of the Emperor of China, Nuanuan street was gayly decorated with lanterns, etc., demonstrative of the reverence with which the Chinese look upon their Sovereign.

A dance was given Thursday evening at the Knights of Pythias Hall. Mr. Berger's string band was in attendance. There were about thirty couples in present, and dancing was kept up till about midnight.

The unusual number of carriages at both Fort Street Church and the Cathedral, at Thanksgiving service was quite noticeable; but thanks to the care taken by those left in charge of the animals, there was no accident.

The Bulletin appears to be a little out in its knowledge of American history, judging from its attempt to correct the Gazette as to what happened during the canvass for the Presidency when Lincoln was elected.

The attention of the Superintendent of Roads should be drawn to the deep hole on the road leading to Waikiki. The hole in question is situated close to the summer residence of Mr. C. R. Bishop.

On Tuesday last quite a number of tourists stopping at the Hawaiian Hotel took a walk to view the Kapena Falls. They were astonished to see the native boys jumping from the rock on the far side of the falls, a height of about 45 feet.

A Chinaman named Wong Kau was, Wednesday morning, arrested at his residence on the charge of counterfeiting Hawaiian half-dollar pieces. One unfinished coin, and several plaster of paris dies were found in the house, which are now under lock and key at the Police Station. The dies are beautifully made, and money coined from them would, doubtless, be difficult to detect.

Resolution passed by the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, November 29, 1884:—

Resolved, That on and after December 1, the members of the Chamber of Commerce agree to receive and pay out Certificates of Deposits for all amounts over Ten Dollars as gold in all transactions among themselves and where practicable with others.

J. B. ABBERTON, Secretary.

Frank Leslie's Illustrated Weekly has a paragraph to the effect that President Arthur has presented a handsome gold watch and chain to Captain Edward Williams of the British bark Catrina, for humane services in rescuing the crew of the American ship Rainer. Capt. Williams is well known here, it not being long since he left here in command of the Catrina, en route to China. His friends will be pleased to hear that his gallant conduct has been fittingly rewarded.

The "Temple of Fashion" begs to inform the general public that they will not give their goods away, as advertised by other retail dealers to catch trade. All they guarantee is, that they carry the stock, every article marked in plain figures, and their prices the lowest.

Customers purchasing $5 worth of holiday goods are entitled to a chance in the raffle for the life-size doll, now on exhibition in the lower window of the Temple of Fashion, Fort street.

A beautiful effect may be noticed these moonlight evenings, wherever the long, horizontal branches of the samang or "monkey-pod" trees stretch over the roadway. During the day the shade afforded by these trees is delightful, and the shadow cast upon the ground so dark as to give the impression that the foliage above must be very dense. But at night, when the leaflets have gone to sleep, they hang perpendicularly and then the moonlight finds its way where the more powerful sun's rays could not pierce, and the ground is bespread with an elegant pattern more like that of rich Honitan lace than anything else.

The O. P. M. B. purposes to hold its own in the Gents' furnishing line; in fact, it is determined to lead the van. The display of goods in the four windows on Fort street is of the most superb and recherche character. Clothing, hats, boots, shirts, hose, suspenders, handkerchiefs and a thousand and one other articles are displayed to the best advantage, and marked at the lowest possible figure. Mr. Lederer, the indefatigable manager of the O. P. M. B., is always equal to the occasion. He has just opened 82 cases of new goods, and he has also to arrive an additional lot of merchandise, valued at $10,000. The extensive additions lately made to the O. P. M. B. permit of a full display of the new line of importations. Novelties of the latest designs have been selected, and no one will regret paying a visit to this grand emporium of trade.

His Majesty the King was at the steamer wharf yesterday to see Governor Dominis, the Chief Justice, and the Attorney-General, off for Lahaina.

Dr. Fitch has resigned his position as physician at the Dispensary, and at the Branch Hospital, Kakaako, and intends leaving the Islands by the steamer of the 15th instant.

Mr. Thomas Centre gave a dinner on Sunday evening on board the S. S. Alameda. The occasion was in honor of the kindness Mr. Centre has received from his numerous friends during his stay here.

This evening the ladies of the Union Church will give a sociable at the residence of the Pastor, the Rev. E. C. Ogel, on Bishop's lane, adjoining Captain Hobron's residence. All the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ogel will be welcome.

One of the best-selected assortments of articles suitable for Christmas gifts is to be found at Messrs. C. J. Fishel's store on Fort and Hotel streets; and its value is enhanced by the fact that with each purchase of $5 worth, is given article of silver ware.

Last night, at Fort Street Church, Mr. Herbert C. Austin was married to Miss Marion R. Robertson. The bride's father gave her away, Pastor Cruzan officiating as clergyman. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, and a great many friends of the groom and bride were present.

It has been remarked that the storehouse adjoining the Custom House is so well filled that its storage capacity is nearly exhausted. If one or two heavy shipments come in, the Storehouse-keeper will have to see about other quarters for the goods, unless a large quantity is taken out of bond.

The new church building at Ewa was dedicated to sacred worship last Saturday by the Revs. C. M. Hyde and J. Waiamau. The new church is called "Ka hiku o na Lani, imi pomaikai o Hawaii," which, being translated, means "The seventh of the Chiefs who sought the welfare of Hawaii," in allusion to His Majesty the King.

The following named firms were the largest shippers of sugar by the Alameda yesterday: W. G. Irwin & Co., 3016 bags; C. Brewer, 2641; T. H. Davies & Co., 2803. There was also sent forward by C. E. Henson 503 bunches of bananas; by Sresovitch & Co., 455 bunches; and by M. McInerney, 428 bunches.

The S. S. Alameda left yesterday at noon for San Francisco. There were but very few passengers. Several of the Myrtle boys went on board the W. H. Hall, and gave James Seely, the trainer of the Honolulu crew, three cheers as the Alameda slowly glided past. Captain Morse responded by giving three cheers for the Myrtles.

His Excellency the Governor of Maui, His Honor the Chief Justice, and His Excellency the Attorney-General, and several of the legal fraternity, left Honolulu yesterday by the Likie, to hold the Circuit Court at Lahaina. They may be expected to return next Saturday. Mr. A. L. Wilcox accompanied the Chief Justice as Hawaiian and English interpreter; Mr. Marcos as Portuguese, and Mr. Li Chung as Chinese Interpreters.

Mr. James Seely, the trainer of the Honolulu, was yesterday the recipient of a photograph of the winning crew, accompanied by a letter from the Myrtle boys, expressing their regret at his departure and the hope that they would soon see him again. Mr. Seely begs to acknowledge the receipt of both the photo and letter, and at the same time to thank the members of the Myrtle Boat Club for the courtesy they have shown him.

Mr. W. H. Cornwell received by the S. S. Zealandia a handsome Hereford bull, which was sent to Maui by yesterday's steamer. We congratulate Mr. Cornwell upon this acquisition to his herd. The following is his pedigree: Coomassie 5th; No. on horn 60; color R. and W. F; born 1st September, 1882; sire, Coomassie Vol. XI. H. H. B. Dam, Heathen Bell, got by Duke of Edinburgh; 3d dam Paragon, got by Commodore; 4th dam, Finly, got by Australian; 5th dam Ancient. Coomassie 5th was bred by the "New Zealand Stud and Pedigree Stock Company (Ld.) Auckland.

An accident of a singular nature occurred on King street early on Friday morning. The horse attached to hack No. 81, driven by a Chinaman, suddenly bolted off the south side of the road at the culvert near Mr. S. N. Castle's residence, where the masonry is over 3 feet high. The shock smashed one of the front wheels, and the horse broke the hack up still more by dashing with it into the rough fence built around the deep pool of water in the ditch on that side of the road. Here the shafts and whiffletree gave way, and the horse ran up the street towards Waikiki, leaving the wreck and the driver at the edge of the pool, which is about 10 feet across, and contains something like 2 feet of water. The horse was soon captured and brought back to his owner, and calmly gazed at the ruin he had made, until a couple of representatives of the local press came along, when he winked slyly at them, as who should say, "Ahi labores jucundi"—Finished labors are pleasant.

All About a Doll.

There is now to be seen at the Temple of Fashion a wax doll, full life-size, with a white dress and sash on her fair, chubby form, and the loveliest pink on her sweet rounded cheeks; and her bright blue eyes wink. Her joints are all flexible, her attitudes graceful. Whoever would win her can do so with "acc. full," unless some one with "fours" should his hopes cruelly baffle, and thus win the doll for his child at the raffie.

The Inspector-General of Immigrants.

Hon. A. S. Cleghorn returned to town on Sunday from an official trip to the plantations in the district of Kau, Hawaii. From the account of them, which he has obligingly furnished, it would appear that Kau is a favored district, where the planters do their duty to the men, and the men behave themselves properly towards their employers, not even indulging in an ordinary average of sickness. Mr. Cleghorn inspected all the laborers' quarters, and found no complaint to make about them or their surroundings. On the three plantations of the district, there are altogether 422 Portuguese employed, this nationality out-numbering all others, put together among the laborers. From experience of the benefit derived in the way of healthy men, able to do their day's work in good style, the employers on these plantations have taken to boarding their Chinese laborers instead of letting them cater for themselves. Everywhere where Mr. Cleghorn went the cane looked well, with promise of heavy crops.

Prohibition.

The Hall of the Y. M. C. A. Building was completely filled—crowded in fact—last Tuesday evening with those who assembled to hear what Mrs. Leavitt had to say on "Prohibition! Does it Prohibit?" The lecturer spoke for more than an hour in a very interesting, discursive way upon the subject of prohibition, giving force to the points advanced by many happy illustrations. Figures were quoted to show that the bugbear of "loss to the revenue" by prohibition was a deception in the United States, where the additional expenses incurred in dealing with the criminals, made such by drink, more than balanced the amounts received from licenses and duties.

Mrs. Leavitt touched upon the question of prohibition here, and, speaking of the argument used that we could not prohibit the introduction of liquors from abroad on account of our treaty relations with France, she said she had been informed by the Chief Justice that this was not so. That as the United States could prohibit the importation into its territory of rags from Italy, on the ground that public health was endangered thereby on account of the prevalence of cholera in that country, so this Government could, on the score of danger to the public health and morals, prohibit the introduction of spirituous liquors.

The lady excused herself for wandering occasionally from the topic of prohibition, as her mind was so full of the general subject of temperance that she felt that she could not confine herself strictly to any one branch. Her audience were interested up to the last, and will, no doubt, take the first opportunity to hear her again.

The Hawaiian Exhibits.

By the Alameda yesterday, U. S. Consul McKinley forwarded to Representative C. S. Hill, at Washington, to be by him sent to the New Orleans Exposition, the following articles as representing Hawaiian products and manufactures.

Samples of sugar from H. Hackfeld & Co., of rice from Hyman Bros., of tobacco from L. Marchant, Kona coffee from H. E. McIntyre & Bro., taro flour from Alden Co. of Wailuku, jelly and bananas (dried) from S. J. Levey & Co., and a bridle of Hawaiian made leather from W. M. Foster & Co.

Mr. A. L. Richardson contributed a very handsome hat made from braid prepared from the bark of the bamboo tree, and samples of braid of different kinds. There was also specimens of native cabinet woods, highly polished, from C. E. Williams & Co., and a slab of beautiful koa from Lewers & Cooke. Mr. Godfrey Brown contributed a finely finished koa vase and bowl with cover, and Mr. Kraft sent in a cane of Puhala wood.

Messrs. M. W. McChesney & Son sent in a bundle of dressed skins—goat, sheep, etc., and there were also samples of seed-work—necklaces, bags, etc. A handsome peacock feather lei from Mr. F. P. Hastings, besides kapas and cording, and specimens of olona fibre and a covered gourd calabash by the Hawaiian Government. H. May & Co. sent samples of Hawaiian salt, and Mr. J. Williams photographs of the King and Royal Family.

These articles will be exhibited in the space set apart for "Consular Exhibits," a glass enclosed area about fifty feet in diameter.

It should be borne in mind that these articles are to be exhibited by the State Department of the United States, and have nothing to do with the exhibit to be made by Hawaii through the Government.
